

Ecole du pétrole et des moteurs IFP School - Rueil-Malmaison

Institution's profile

The École du pétrole et des moteurs offers applied training in a master's, over a period of one or two years in French or in English, mainly for young engineers who work in the fields of petroleum, gas, petrochemicals and motors. Since 1924, the school has trained more than 11,000 engineers and specialists, working in over 100 countries. The courses are coordinated and taught by professors who have had industry-wide, diversified experience. In addition, 500 industry professionals teach at the school, sharing on-the-job operational experiences that provide students with concrete, practical and interactive professional insight (particularly thanks to industrial software and real work projects).

10 programs focus on industry

- Petroleum Geosciences, Geology major
- Petroleum Geosciences, Geophysics major
- Reservoir Geosciences and Engineering
- Development and exploitation of deposits
- Refining, engineering and gas
- Advanced Technology in Petrochemicals, Polymers and Plastics
- Motors
- Petroleum products and motors
- Corporate economics and management
- Petroleum economics and management

4 programs focus on research

- Quantitative methods and modeling of sedimentary basins
- Kinetic chemistry - catalysis, combustion and modeling
- Energy conversion - motors and environnement
- Energy economics

Photograph provided by the institution

The École benefits from its association and facilities at the Institut français du pétrole (IFP – French Petroleum Institute), research center and industrial development, training and information technology along with the Institute's international reputation.

The IFP has more than 1,800 employees and an annual budget of 296 million euros.

Strengths

- 60% of the students receive financial support from the industry; some receive scholarships for excellence from the school;
- Programs for English-speaking students;
- Partnership programs with universities and schools with international reputations (USA, Canada, Great Britain, Russia, etc.);
- A special office helps students find lodging near the school (a residence exists with 132 apartments).

Location

The École du pétrole et des moteurs is located at Rueil-Malmaison, 8 km west of Paris, within the IFP complex.

Institution's
website

<http://www.ifp-school.com>

Identity form

Precise name of the institution :	■ Ecole du pétrole et des moteurs – IFP School
Type of institution :	■ Public
City where the main campus is situated :	■ Rueil-Malmaison
Number of students :	■ 350 students recruited each year
Percentage or number of international students :	■ 50% of the students are foreign from 40 countries
Type and level of qualifications awarded :	■ LMD ■ Other national diplômes
French language courses for international students :	■ Yes
Study programmes for international students :	■ Yes
Training programmes in English :	■ Yes
Registration fees for the year (for information only) :	■ 400 €
Postal address :	■ École du pétrole et des moteurs - 228-232, avenue Napoléon Bonaparte 92852 Rueil-Malmaison Cedex