Because of its uniqueness and excellence, ITECH is an important scientific, industrial, and economic resource in the Rhône-Alpes region, occupying a prominent place in the world of research and technical education.

- ITECH's degrees are accredited by the Commission des Titres d'Ingénieur (the French national commission on engineering degrees).
- ITECH is a member of the Conférence des Grandes Écoles, the UGEI - Union des Grandes Écoles Indépendantes and of the Institut Polytechnique de Lyon, which also includes ECAM, ESCPE, and ISARA.

Major fields of study

ITECH is known for its expertise in polymer science and related industrial applications.

Because polymer science underpins numerous and varied industries—among them plastics, textiles, cosmetics, paints, and leather—ITECH has developed a unique scientific curriculum adapted to the present and future needs of industry.

Research

Thanks to the quality of its research scientists and technical facilities, the institute is able to perform a wide range of research and development work and to obtain contracts for basic research.
