

Université de Haute-Alsace Mulhouse

PROFILE

The University of Haute-Alsace (UHA) is an institution of higher education and research enrolling 8,000 students, 15 percent of whom are international students from 83 countries. Established in 1975, UHA has three campuses in Mulhouse and two in Colmar. The university consists of four faculties (unités de formation et de recherche, or UFRs), two institutes of technology (instituts universitaires de technologie, or IUTs), and three schools of engineering. UHA's degree programs number more than 170.

Major fields of study

As a comprehensive university, UHA offers more than a hundred programs in four broad fields:

- Arts, letters, and languages
- Law, economics, management
- Humanities and social sciences
- Science and technology, health

Research

UHA's 16 research centers are organized in 3 clusters that share a commitment to world-class research. Some 350 research faculty are funded by 50 national research contracts.

UHA, heir to a long tradition of scientific and technical innovation, is the product of the synergistic collaboration of research, education, and industry. Its 16 laboratories are organized into three clusters:

- Chemistry, physics, and materials
- Engineering
- Humanities and social sciences
